At the Aurora Group

We believe in giving people the opportunities they need to create and lead fulfilling, independent lives.

Established in 2015, we are now the UK's sixth largest provider of education, care and support services for children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities. Each of our schools, colleges and residential homes retains its own unique identity while embracing and embodying our group's core values.

We are caring.

We understand that your experience in mainstream care and education may have been a difficult one. We take seriously our responsibility for the children and young people in our care, and are committed to making your time with us as positive and fulfilling as possible.

We are ambitious.

We have high expectations of all our children and young people, regardless of what barriers they may have faced in the past. We encourage them to expect more for themselves, while challenging employers and communities to understand and value their diverse needs and attributes.

We are collaborative.

Everything we do, we do in partnership with you. We actively seek and listen to feedback from students, parents and staff, to find out what's working well, what we can do better, and how we can further develop all our services to benefit the people we work with.

We are trusted.

Our business is funded by ethical investors. They understand that sustainable growth is possible only when we hold ourselves to the highest standards, by delivering consistently top-quality services to every single person we work with.

We are innovative.

We begin planning for each young person's future the minute they walk through our doors. We tailor our approach to their unique needs, and are constantly looking for new opportunities to help them explore, enhance and employ their own skills, talents and abilities.

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to Aurora Foxes.

I am proud to lead this College and training hotel. Located in the heart of town, Aurora Foxes forms such an integral part of Minehead; our students are genuinely included by the community.

My first responsibility is to keep students safe, both physically and mentally; I know this is the priority for all staff. The next is to organise learning to ensure an engaging and exciting educational experience that delivers our curriculum aims and embeds Aurora values.

Our curriculum has been built on the five founding values of Aurora: Caring; Ambitious; Collaborative; Trusted; Innovative. Its aims are clear: to support all our students to go on to be confident, successful and healthy adults who have the skills, attitudes and aptitude to gain meaningful employment and to live as independently as possible. In short, rounded individuals, ready to take their place in society.

Through the three pillars of learning: Vocational; Functional and Independence, our students gain a range of experience across hospitality, build the fundamental soft skills that employers seek and become more familiar with their understanding of the wider world through enrichment activities and Foxes focus days. The curriculum is not just delivered in classrooms but the totality of student experiences that occur during their time with us. We are all responsible for delivering the curriculum, which is why its impact lasts a long time beyond the three year typical study period.

These are merely fine words if student outcomes do not reflect our high ambitions. Throughout this prospectus you will find quotations and examples of our alumni who are already making their way in the world full of confidence and we are very proud of this legacy.

We have built partnerships with a range of local employers and community groups to ensure work experiences beyond our hotel and we are particularly proud of our two national partners, Hilton Hotels and Sodexo, both of which are able to offer graduates support with employability and for some, real employment opportunities when they leave.

We strive daily to be the very best and we will continue to do so, to ensure that graduates from Aurora Foxes are: work ready, life ready.

Gaining independence

Each house offers different experiences. By your final year you will be able to do as much as possible for yourself: getting up for work experience, washing, dressing, shopping, cooking, cleaning and travelling independently to familiar places – just like any young person in further education!

Come to Foxes because it is a great place to be and you can learn lots – travel training, functional skills like maths, English and ICT. We learn independent living skills and hope to get a paid job in hospitality.

Harry started as a Food and Beverage Assistant and has now been promoted to Junior Supervisor! His attention to detail, his commitment to his work, and the way that she shares his experiences and good practice with other members of the team are all the reasons why we felt he deserved a promotion and recognition for all his efforts.

Personal development, health and welfare

PDHW takes place in the residential accommodation and the community and is paramount to learning, with students supported to transfer skills learnt in sessions into real life. PDHW time supports you to develop your social skills and face the challenges associated with learning how to live with others, in a safe and supported environment. You will learn how to develop and maintain a healthy lifestyle and how to be safe online and use technology safely. The level of support you require is assessed and adapted according to your individual risk assessment, so that you are always working towards a greater level of independence.

Student life is about having fun

PDHW time means you can choose activities that promote positive mental, emotional and physical development – which means having fun! We offer a wide range of activities in response to interests expressed by students, such as ballroom dancing, football, drama, yoga, mindfulness and swimming, as well as discos, trips out, talent competitions, virtual karaoke and quizzes.

The Student Council meets regularly to plan and organise charitable events. It also reviews all aspects of Aurora Foxes to influence, change and maintain the quality of the college.

“ Students thrive in an environment where respecting each other and working together are valued... they are proud to be students at the college. ”
